

DeKalb #3

Cedar Chapel Cemetery

Cedar Creek Cemetery entrance

The cemetery was begun sometime in 1858 or 1860; it is located only a short distance from the old St. John's Lutheran Cemetery. The land for this cemetery was taken from the Robert Work farm.

Many of the old soldiers who gave their lives for their county now rest in this peaceful lot. Many of the Simon's, Fair's, Snyder's, Pepples', Lige's, Hietz, Miller's, and Huffman's were buried there.

It is said that the first person who was buried there was a Mr. Miller. He was hauled there on a wagon with a team of oxen and buried in a rough box.

The cemetery has been extended twice on the north side, and is still increasing.

Five people met at Cedar Creek Chapel May 26, 1877, to plan for a cemetery. Officers elected that day were A. C. Griffin, president, and W. H. Keeran, secretary. Trustees Griffin, C. C. Clark, and John Hogue bought two acres of land from Robert Work and wife for $100 June 17, 1877. Part of this land was to be laid out in lots and sold for $5 each. One section was designated for those who were too poor to pay. This section is now filled. The southwest corner represents the old burial ground, which is included in the cemetery but is not laid out in lots. In October 1877 the cemetery was incorporated.

In 1900 it was decided to build a fence around the cemetery. The trustees advertised by posting notices, to let the job of fencing, specifying that the south and east sides, fronting the roads, were to be ornamental iron and the west and north sides were to be good substantial wire fence with cedar posts. The job contract was awarded to J. A. Miller, who erected the fence in September 1901.

In the beginning owners of lots were assessed for their upkeep, but in 1938 or 1940 perpetual care came into being. A certain percentage of the cost of the lot was set aside for mowing and general care of the graves.

In this cemetery, as in other old cemeteries, may be found dates on stones that preceded the date of Cedar Creek's beginning. This shows that graves from private cemeteries have been moved to Cedar Creek. The oldest date found in the cemetery is 1851. It is said that the first white woman born in DeKalb county is buried there.

It was the custom to have a Memorial Day ceremony on the Mound with a band and a speaker. This custom has been long discontinued.

According to the present plat, the original section and four additional ones exist. The latest addition was land purchased from John Reeve. In recent years a new arch has been erected near the entrance to the cemetery. At the top in large letters is Cedar Creek Cemetery, Inc., and beneath in smaller letters, Cedar Chapel.

Biography of Byron E. Widney, pages 990/991. History of DeKalb County, Indiana; B. F. Bowen & Company, Inc., Indianapolis, 1914.

After a long course of years of daily observation on the part of his neighbors, it would be out of the question for them not to know the worth, moral standing, public sentiment and social conduct as well as something of the private life of Byron E. Widney, one of the substantial agriculturists of Concord township, because, as has been said, "actions speak louder than words." In his community and, in fact, anywhere in DeKalb county, there is heard nothing concerning Mr. Widney but good words and well deserved praise, for he has passed so many years here that his worth is well known, but it will be of interest to run over the busy events of his life in these pages. Byron E. Widney was born in Concord township, DeKalb County, Indiana, on March 29, 1862, and is the son of Samuel and Mary Ann (Moore) Widney. Samuel L. Widney, who was the son of John P. and Jane (Lynn) Widney, was born in DeKalb county on June 26, 1839. He received his education in the schools of his native locality and assisted his father on the home farm until attaining mature years. After his marriage, which occurred on January 1, 1860, he lived on his father's farm a year and the following year located on the farm in Concord township, where he spent the remainder of his days, and where he acquired the ownership of three hundred and thirty-three acres of fine land. His wife was a daughter of James and Ellen Moore, early settlers of Pleasant township, this county. To Mr. and Mrs. Widney were born five children, Marion, Byron E., Viola, Otto L. and Iva May. Byron E. Widney was reared under the parental roof and was early inducted into the mysteries of successful farming. His education was received in the common schools of Concord township and he has devoted his entire mature life to agricultural pursuits, in which he has been eminently successful, owing to his untiring efforts and persistency and the sound of common sense with which he has characterized his labors. He is the owner of one hundred and three acres of good land, practically all of which is under the plow and the well-kept condition of the fences, the neat and well arranged barns and other outbuildings testifying to the progressive ideas and enterprising methods of the owner. On January 27, 1883, Mr. Widney was united in marriage to Martha Rosetta Sechler, the daughter of Levi and Mary Barbara (Kistler) Sechler, the latter family being one of the oldest in DeKalb county. To Mr. and Mrs. Widney was born one child, Edith, who became the wife of Ross Abel, of Newville township, this county. Mrs. Widney, who was born on September 17, 1862, is a lady of many kindly qualities and because of her earnest life and pleasing relations with those with whom she associated she enjoys a well deserved popularity. Politically, Mr. Widney has been a life-long supporter of the Republican party and, though deeply interested in its success and active in its interest during campaigns, he has never sought nor held public office of any nature, his private affairs making heavy demands upon his time. He is deeply interested in everything that pertains to the welfare of his community, supporting all worthy movements, and among those who know him best he is held in the highest measure of esteem.

Biography of Oliver H. Widney, page 951. History of De Kalb County, Indiana. Inter-State Publishing Company, Chicago, 1885.

Oliver H. Widney, son of John P. and Jane (Linn) Widney, was born Nov. 12, 1841, near Newville, De Kalb County, Ind. He was reared on a farm, and in early life attended the district school at Orangeville. After moving to Auburn he attended school at that place, completing his education at the Newville Academy, after which he taught school for some time. When a young man he cleared a farm of seventy acres, bringing it from a swampy state to be one of the best farms in his neighborhood. This farm he traded in 1877 to his father for the old homestead on the St. Joe River, near the town of St. Joe. He has been moderately successful in his farming pursuits, now owning a good farm of 134 acres of which he has gained by his own perseverance and industry. He was married Nov. 3, 1864, to Emily F. Maxwell, a resident of Concord Township. They have two children—H. Mervin, born March 2 1866, and Lenore, born May 18, 1881. Aug. 7, 1862, Mr. Widney enlisted as a private in Company H, Eighty-eighth Indiana Infantry. He was at Fort Wayne, Indianapolis, Louisville, Ky., thence after General Bragg, through Kentucky, and participated in the battle of Perryville, Oct. 8, 1862. He was discharged at Nashville, Dec. 15, 1862, having been sick the greater part of the time while in the army, and returned home almost a living skeleton. Biography of John P. Widney, pages 397/398/399/400. History of DeKalb County, Indiana; B. F. Bowen & Company, Inc., Indianapolis, 1914.

The importance that attaches to the lives, character and work of the early settlers of DeKalb county and the influence they exerted upon the cause of humanity and civilization is one of the most absorbing themes that can possibly attract the attention of the local historian. If great and beneficent results--results that endure and bless mankind--are the proper measure of the good men do, they who is there in the world's history that may take their places above the hardy pioneer. To point out the way, to make possible our present advancing civilization, its happy homes, its arts and science, its discoveries and inventions, its education, literature, culture, refinement and social life and joy, is to be the truly great benefactors of mankind for all time. This was the great work accomplished by the early settlers and it is granted by all that they builded wiser than they knew. Prominent among the worthy representatives of the pioneer element in the county of DeKalb was the well-known gentleman to a review of whose life the following lines are devoted. For many years he was a forceful factor in the growth and development of this locality and because of his life and accomplishments he is eminently entitled to representation in the annals of his county, for the record would not be complete were there failure to give him his due meed of credit for the important part he played in the early drama enacted here. John P. Widney was born of Irish parentage in Franklin county, Pennsylvania, on November 28, 1816, his parents having been John and Joanna (Patterson) Widney. In 1835, at the age of nineteen years, he married in May of the following year, the young couple came to DeKalb county, Indiana, locating on the banks of the St. Joe river, in Concord township, where he entered a tract of government land. To the clearing and improvement of this land he immediately applied his energies and in the course of time succeeded in establishing a comfortable home. In those years of toil and hardship inseparable from the life of a pioneer, John P. Widney evaded no share of labor and during those early years he knew no idle moments. From want of facilities he had received but a meager school education; but the necessities of pioneer conditions, and responsibilities as the head of a family so early in life, caused him to depend wholly on personal effort, guided by exceptional natural mental acumen. He developed such qualities of mind as won for him the respect and confidence of the early settlers, which was shown in an unmistakable manner when the first election in DeKalb county was held, he being chosen with one other to constitute at the county seat the first canvassing board, whose duty was to verify the vote of the county to the governor. Subsequently he was elected a member of the Legislature, serving in 1847 and 1848. In this public capacity he proved himself worthy of the trust of his constituents and the regard of his co-legislators. In 1850 he was elected county clerk, serving one term of four years. His official duties required his residence in Auburn, and he shared with that village its early struggles and its ultimate success. In 1852 he was chosen one of the town's board of trustees. He was later elected justice of the peace and in that capacity showed himself sound of judgement and prompt in decision. He was also deputy internal revenue collector and held that position of trust. During the Civil war Mr. Widney was active in his support of the Union cause, but did not enlist for active military service himself for the reason that, while putting in the bridge across Twenty-six-mile creek, near Newville, he had been severely injured, not fully recovering until late in life. In matters political, he was not a blind partisan, but gave careful consideration to men and measures, casting his vote at all times for what he considered the best interests of the community, state and nation. He was a man of strong and positive convictions, and wrote much for the press, giving his views on questions of the day and on matters that pertained to the county. In religious faith he was an Universalist. In character, he was prudent in his investments, wise in the management of his affairs, and frugal in his tastes, qualities which enabled him to accumulate a goodly amount of material substance, which was largely shared by his children. In reputation, social, business and official, John P. Widney was regarded as an upright, honorable man, of the strictest integrity of thought and action. He "stood four square to every wind that blew" and never violated the confidence which his fellow citizens reposed in him. His last years were spent with his children, his death occurring on October 11, 1905, at the age of eighty-nine years—a long life, in which he gave the best that was in him for his family and community. He always stood by the right as he knew the right, having the courage of his conviction, though sometimes in the minority. In evidence of this is the fact that he was re-nominated for election to the Legislature, but was defeated because he advocated the free-school system and a bill to regulate the sale of intoxicating liquors. It is a matter of fact that, though he was very successful in the accumulation of money, much of which he loaned, he never charged more than the legal rate of interest, and never distressed any one in the repayment of borrowed money, while, on the other hand, he gave material assistance to many a poor man in the securing of a home. His reputation for honorable dealing and just treatment of his fellow was firmly established and is emphasized by those who best knew him. Quiet and unassuming, he was never a seeker for public preferment, and it is said that he was never present at a meeting where he was nominated for office, though, as a loyal citizen, he gladly and efficiently performed his full duty when called by his fellow citizens to perform official functions. In 1835 John P. Widney was married to Jane Linn, the daughter of John and Jane (Scyoc) Linn, and to them were born five children, of whom but two survive, Oliver H., who is referred to specifically elsewhere in this work, and Samuel L. Mrs. Jane Widney died on October 11, 1851, and on May 30, 1852, he married Mary H. Widney, a daughter of Judge Widney. To this union were also born five children, of whom three are living, Mrs. Mary Alice Lewis, John Morris Widney and Mrs. Cora Lodewick, All of the surviving children reside in Auburn, with the exception of Samuel L., who lives at St. Joe, this county, and Mrs. Lodewick, of Ashland, Ohio. Mrs. Mary Widney passed away at Auburn on November 14, 1903, after which Mr. Widney made his home with his children, who gave to him the most loving and solicitous attention. The Linn and Widney families had been for a number of centuries closely connected. The Widneys are descended from Colonel Widney, who was an officer in the army of William of Orange, of Holland. He accompanied that prince from Holland to England in 1688 and was in the war against King James II. For his valuable services he received a large estate in county Tryone, Ireland, which was handed down to his descendants. Colonel Widney's great-grandson, James Widney, who inherited the estate, was a squire. In 1784, when thirty-one years old, he sold the ancestral acres and came to America, buying six hundred acres of land in Path Valley, Franklin (then Cumberland) county, Pennsylvania. The Linn family is descended from the ancient Celts who migrated from Scotland to Ireland after the conquest by William of Orange. They settled not far from the Widney estate and the two families became very close in their relationships. When James Widney came to America, he sent word back to Hugh Linn, his sister's husband, and in 1788 Hugh Linn and his family came to Pennsylvania and located near the Widney estate, in Path Valley. There they became successful in their material pursuits and prominent in the social, civic and business life of the community.

Biography of Charles R. Reed, pages 447/448/449/450.
 History of DeKalb County, Indiana; B. F. Bowen & Company, Inc., Indianapolis, 1914.

A career marked by earnest and indefatigable application has been that of his substantial and honored citizen of Waterloo, where he has maintained a residence for many years, during all of which time his life has been an open book, known and read by his fellowmen. He was a valiant soldier of the Civil war, where his fidelity was of the type which has characterized his actions in all their relations and gained for him the confidence and esteem of the public and unbounded respect of all with whom he has been brought into contact. Charles R. Reed, who, after a life of strenuous activity, is now retired and residing in his pleasant home in Waterloo, Indiana, was born in Butler township, DeKalb county, on October 13, 1842, the son of Russell and Marilla (Holbrook) Reed. Russell Reed was born probably in Vermont, and in New York state married Marilla Holbrook, who was born in Massachusetts, the daughter of Lyman Holbrook, Lyman Holbrook brought his family to DeKalb county from Jefferson county, New York, whither they had come from Massachusetts, and in 1834 they settled in the southwestern part of Butler township, and here he spent his later life with the exception of five years, when he lived in Iowa. His death occurred in 1864 and his wife survived him many years, her death occurring in 1893, both being buried on the Huntertown cemetery. Charles R. Reed was reared to maturity in Butler township, and in August, 1862, he enlisted in Company C, Eighty-eighth Regiment, Indiana Volunteer Infantry, which was assigned to the Army of the Cumberland. Mr. Reed enlisted as a private but was soon promoted to the rank of corporal. On September 20, 1863, he was wounded at the battle of Chickamauga and was confined in the hospital for five months. The day after he was wounded he was captured by the enemy, but ten days later was paroled. In the winter of 1864-5 he was detailed to go to Chattanooga and thence to Charleston, Tennessee, to take charge of a company of men made up from different regiments. He participated in the battles of Perryville, Murfreesboro, Chickamauga, and the battles, skirmishes and marches incident to the campaign leading up to Atlanta, and nearly all the other engagements of his regiment until the close of the war, receiving his honorable discharge on June 7, 1865, at Washington, D. C. A brother of his, Oliver Reed, died in the service at Jeffersonville, Indiana, in 1864. Before the war Mr. Reed had received his education in the district schools and had also attended the seminary at Huntertown, and after the war he attended the free school at Fort Wayne, completing here the education which had been interrupted by the war. He engaged in teaching school with considerable success in Allen, Noble and DeKalb counties, and also taught vocal music for twenty years, both in ordinary classes and in normal classes in Ohio, Illinois and Indiana, and in the public schools of Waterloo, resigning his position in the latter schools in 1911, Although he was requested by the board to continue his labors there. school Mr. Reed also supervised the operation of his farm, in which he met with good success. He is now retired from active pursuits and is living quietly in his pleasant and attractive home in Waterloo. In 1868 Mr. Reed was married in Swan township, Noble county, Indiana, to Mary P. Perry, who was born and reared there, a daughter of Oliver and May (Francis) Perry. To this union was born one child, Clyde V., who is telegrapher operator at Waterloo for the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern railroad, his wife being ticket agent. He married Ella Goodwin, the daughter of Leander Goodwin, and they have one son, Lynn Goodwin Reed. In the year that Mr. Reed moved from Noble county to Waterloo, 1871, his first wife died, she passing away on September 17th, and on March 16, 1876, he married Ella S. Here his death occurred in 1861 and his wife died in 1876. Their son, Henry, married Mary Jane Shaneholt, in Stark county, Ohio, and came here in 1841. His wife died when their daughter, Ella S., was a child only three months old, and Henry Smith's sister, Margaret, became the foster mother of the little one and reared her to womanhood. After Ella was grown to maturity and married to Mr. Reed she always thought Aunt Margaret as a child would a mother. Miss Margaret Smith lived with her parents until after their death, and then she and her brother, Archibald, lived in Waterloo for some years. In 1888 she became the wife of Jacob I. Frazer, who died in 1898, and now she resides in Waterloo. She was born near Massillon, Stark county, Ohio, on September 24, 1831, and is now eighty-two years old. Mr. Reed now makes his home with her. Her life has been one of quiet self-sacrifice, performing many kind deeds for others, many of whom remember her with gratitude. Her training, example and instruction so impressed itself on Mrs. Reed that the latter became a devoted wife and mother, rearing her children to honored and respected womanhood. To Mr. and Mrs. Reed were born the following children: Daisy A., the wife of Edmund Brown, of Urbana, Ohio; Mary Blanch is the wife of Frank Spiker, of Massillon, Ohio, and they have one son, Harold R.; Mabel Margaret is the wife of Lawrence Eugene Pontius, a photographer at Columbia City, Indiana. the mother of these children died on January 19, 1894. Aside from the interests already mentioned he was at one time a partner in a flour and feed exchange and also served as United States Express

Notice of Administration

- * Notice is hereby given that the undersigned has been appointed by the Judge of the DeKalb circuit court of the state of Indiana, administrator, with the will annexed, of the estate of Isaac Timberlin, deceased, late of said county. Said estate is supposed to be solvent. Attest: Geo. H. K. Moss, Clerk. David M. Timberlin Adm'r. January 9, 1880. (Re: Auburn Courier - 22 Jan 1880)

Clinton DeLong is now a freight conductor, making the third R. R. Employee of this grade residing in Waterloo. (Re: Waterloo Press - 9 Feb 1882)

- * Miss Josie Thomas, now teaching in the Butler school, spent Sunday in town. (Re: Waterloo Press - 16 Feb 1882)

H. F. DeLong, of Richland, has built him a substantial brick farm house this summer. Capt. Cutter's now finishing it off. (Re: Waterloo Press - 12 Aug 1880)

- * Auburn Ticket-The R3publicans at Auburn have this excellent ticket in the field: Trustees, J. E. Shilling, Sherman Hollister, William Clark, Solomon Shearer; Alex Kinmont; Clerk, M. B. Willis; Marshal, Jas. Pearce; Treasurer, Charles Beugnot. (Re: Waterloo Press - 21 Apr 1881)

- * George DeLong will return to Newville at once, having soon tired of living at St. Louis, Michigan. (Re: Waterloo Press - 25 Aug 1881)

- * Fire at Newville-A fire at Newville, on Wednesday evening of last week, destroyed the dry goods store of Cecil Rhodes, the drug store, and the residence of Squire Bartlett. Most of the goods, except in the dry goods store were saved, and the loss will probably not exceed $5,00. There was a large amount of insurance on the dry goods. A large number of the citizens think the fire was of an incendiary character. (Re: Waterloo Press - 25 Aug 1881)

- * Joseph Pepple, a well-known and respected farmer living in Butler township, near New Era, recently purchased of Messrs. N. & G. Ensley one of the celebrated "Agitator" threshing machine, manufactured by G. I. Case & Co., of Racine, Wisconsin, for which the latter firm the former act as agents at this place. Last Saturday evening, after having used the machine but two days, Mr. Pepple took it to the farm of Wm. Thrush, where he left it, prepared to go to work Monday morning; but sometime during the night, actuated by a desire to stop Mr. Pepple's work, which was doubtless interfering with their own, some scoundrels set fire to the threshing-machine and burned it completely up, demolishing also a new steam engine which was brought at the same place. Mr. Pepple's loss will be about $400, as the company has furnished him a new machine, discounting $150, and the engine has been repaired. (Re: Auburn Courier—15 Jul 1880)

Barring ANY other unforeseen circumstances, I SHALL be leaving Torrance on 28th July 2003. This to partake of the journey previously scheduled to begin 28th April, past.

Shall be traveling with my Gypsy friend, a Jack Russell Terrier, who dearly loves good people, and going where ever I go. My self-contained RV will be quite road worthy by that time. Just a few minor repairs scheduled, week after next. Two tires, tune-up, and minor oil leak repair. LONG past due getting it, Gypsy, and myself, back on the road again.

Have laid out my route, in the spiffy map program in this notebook computer. Shall be passing thru, or nearby your domicile. Some stops might only end up being long enough for coffee, lunch, or whatever. Others, might be overnight, or thereabouts. Please RSVP if receiving visitors during the month of August, or not.

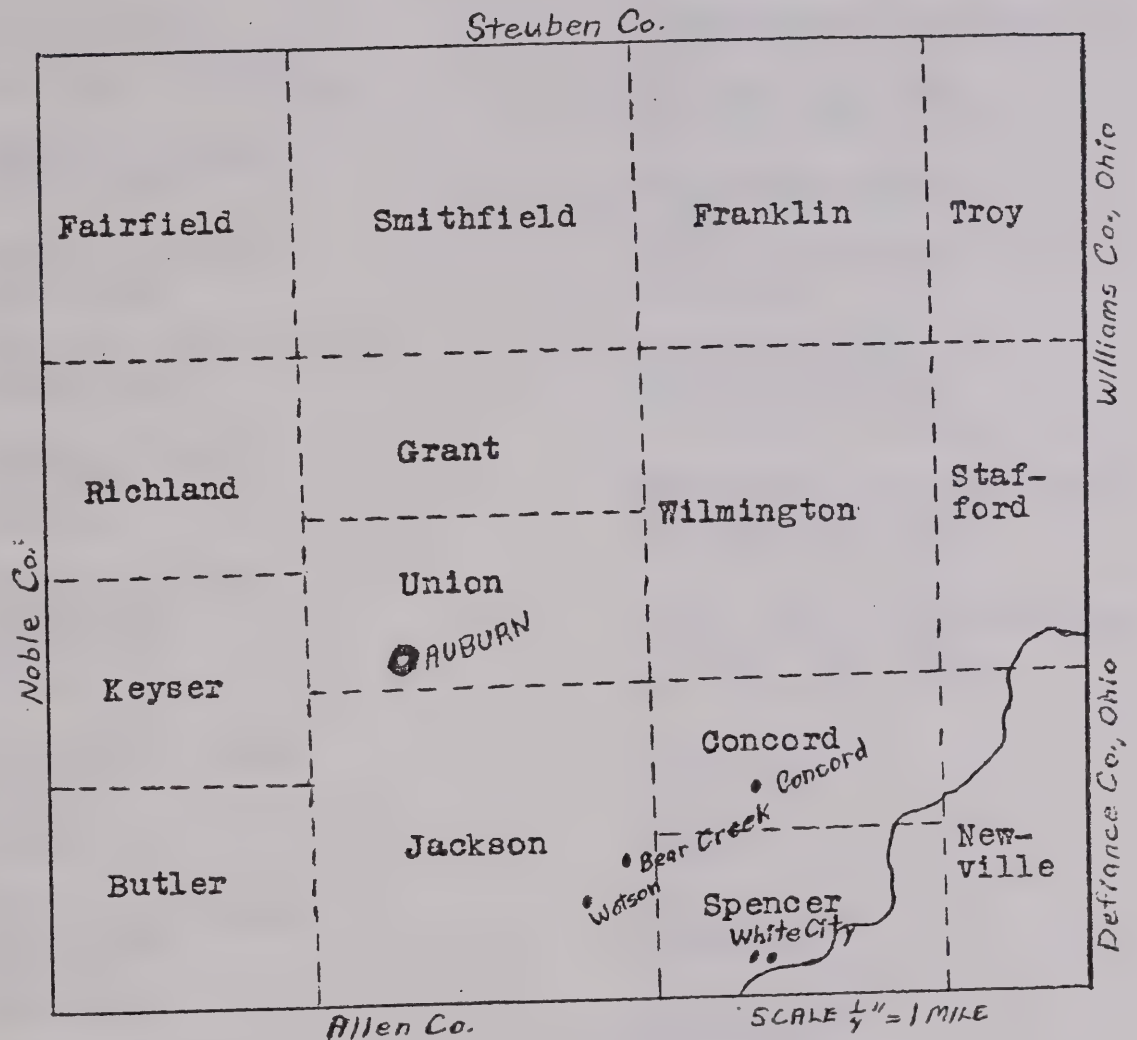

Have made arrangements for a reliable house sitter, to keep a good eye on this house while I am gone. Will have to triple check to see how long they will be willing to take care of MY business while I am cruising across country, and back.

For those you know, that I know, that are sans email - - - please let them know of latest venture OUT of CALIFORNIA. As soon as the schedule takes on more substance, and body, shall let you know a more approx()e date that I hope to be in your area. ()

May all have enjoyed this Mother's Day. As ever,

Wm H. Gump & wife Nellie, (son of Prof. L. O. Gump)

1915 POST CARD

Dear Sirs I am at Jackson on Lake of New York
I was down to Annual Penna Fair at North Manchester there the holiday and when we came back we stop at Columbia City to see one of Otter Hotel and stand over night and the next morning we took a stage shot at us do we look like
it. We are well and hope you same the children good to school for day
I sit home and hope you are all well
We would be glad to hear from you again

Wm H. Gump - Gar. Nellie

Post Card written to go with this picture:

February, 1915

Dear Sister and Aunt, I send are (one?) picture of Nellie and I. I was down to Aunt Emma Fair at North Manchester thure (through) the holiday and when we came back we stop at Columbia City to see one of Ette's nepew and staid over night and the next morning he took a snap shot at us. Do we look like it. We are well and hope you same. The children goed to school ever day. Writ some time how you are git along. We would be glad to here from you. Goodby to all.

The notation of the identification of the photo which was put on by someone else at a later date says "Forrest Gump & wife, Nellie – Forrest, son of Phebe Vandolah Gump." However, this cannot be correct. The man is too old and have decided that it is William H. Gump, and daughter Nellie. Not sure who he is writing to, but his aunt at North Manchester was Emma, sister of his father David, who married Carlton Fair in 1902. At the date of 1915 Forrest would have only been about 15. This man is much older. Forrest would have had an aunt Emma, but this clearly says Emma Fair who was William's aunt.

So conclusion is that this is William H. Gump and his daughter, Nellie in 1915.

CEDAR CHAPEL CEMETERY HISTORY from "History of DeKalb County Cemeteries" by Dorothy A. Ditmars, April 18, 1924.

The cemetery was begun sometime in 1858 or 1860, it is located only a short distance from the old St. John's Lutheran Cemetery. The land for this cemetery was taken from the Robert Work farm.

The cemetery has grown a great deal. Many of the old soldiers who gave their lives for their county now rest in this peaceful lot. Many of the Simon's, Fair's, Snyder's, Pepples', Lige's, Hietz, Miller's, and Huffman's were buried there.

It is said that the first person who was buried there was a Mr. Miller. He was hauled there on a wagon with a team of oxen and buried in a rough box.

The cemetery has been extended twice on the north side, and is still increasing.

Cedar Creek Cemetery

Of the four cemeteries considered, according to the records, Cedar Creek is the oldest. Five people met at Cedar Creek Chapel May 26, 1877, to plan for a cemetery. Officers elected that day were A. C. Griffin, president, and W. H. Keeran, secretary. Trustees Griffin, C. C. Clark, and John Hogue bought two acres of land from Robert Work and wife for $100 June 17, 1877. Part of this land was to be laid out in lots and sold for $5 each. One section was designated for those who were too poor to pay. This section is now filled. The southwest corner represents the old burial ground, which is included in the cemetery but is not laid out in lots. In October 1877 the cemetery was incorporated.

In 1900 it was decided to build a fence around the cemetery. The trustees advertised by posting notices, to let the job of fencing, specifying that the south and east sides, fronting the roads, were to be ornamental iron and the west and north sides were to be good substantial wire fence with cedar posts. The job contract was awarded to J. A. Miller, who erected the fence in September 1901.

In the beginning owners of lots were assessed for their upkeep, but in 1938 or 1940 perpetual care came into being. A certain percentage of the cost of the lot was set aside for mowing and general care of the graves.

In this cemetery, as in other old cemeteries, may be found dates on stones that preceded the date of Cedar Creek's beginning. This shows that graves from private cemeteries have been moved to Cedar Creek. The oldest date found in the cemetery is 1851. It is said that the first white woman born in DeKalb county is buried there.

In years one by it was the custom to have a Memorial Day ceremony on the Mound with a band and a speaker. This custom has been long discontinued.

According to the present plat, the original section and four additional ones exist. The latest addition was land purchased from John Reeve. In recent years a new arch has been erected near the entrance to the cemetery. At the top in large letters is Cedar Creek Cemetery, Inc., and beneath in smaller letters, Cedar Chapel.

The present officers are Edward Shutt, president and Sexton; Arthur Wilderson, vice-president, and Mrs. Richard Ziffin, secretary-treasurer. Completing the board of directors are Jack Wappes, Russel Housel and Myles Hixson.

Last But Not Least - The Cemetery The first settlers probably buried their dead on some favorite home spot, some around the Methodist church, and some on the northeast corner of the George Houck farm. I well remember seeing the monuments. The ground was so wet they bought a plot from Rudolph Bair, Sr., south of town and across Carnes Run. Rudolph Bair, Jr., first wife, Catherine, was the first to be buried there in 1849.

The graves from the church and Houck farm were moved there some few years ago. Andy Sponohour bought land across the road and opened up a new plot. Having no official organization, the town got together, organized and called the cemetery, The White City.

History: LUTHERAN CHURCH CEMETERY HISTORY From "History of DeKalb County Cemeteries" by Dorothy A. Ditmars, April 18, 1924.

Butler Township St. John's Lutheran Cemetery

This cemetery dates back along about 1830. Many of the older residents of the township were buried here. Some families who were buried here were Miller's, Huffman's, Chisholm's, David's, and Moody's.

A great many of the bodies have been removed to the Cedar Chapel Cemetery nearby. The space was taken up by a state road. However, there are still a few old gravestones there, which date back as far as 1849, and 1854.

This cemetery, though tumbled and uncared for, was a very picturesque old spot, and could the dead once have spoken would have told many historical events.
